SUMMARY

I recently received my BSc (Hons) in Computer Science (2023), and I'm enthusiastic about using my skills to address practical issues. I'm looking for chances to improve my abilities and get real-world experience in the industry. I hope to contribute creative ideas while promoting personal and professional development. I have a solid background in computer science and a great desire to learn new things. I am a vital member of any team because of my commitment to finding solutions to real-world problems, and I'm excited to start my career in the tech sector after a great journey of lifelong learning.
